Matt began his career in Private Banking guiding affluent families through all the intricacies of wealth. In 2016, he joined Freestone as a Senior Associate working on portfolio analytics and complex wealth planning assignments across multiple teams. In 2018, Matt joined the Client Advisor team and works closely with his clients to circumnavigate, understand and solve for each of their unique scenarios.

Education

Matt earned a BA in Law, Politics, and Economy from the University of Washington. He holds the Certified Financial Planner (CFP®) designation.

Outside Freestone

Matt enjoys spending time with his wife, Ashley and sons, Noah and Parker. Together they like to explore the Pacific Northwest and spend time on the San Juan Islands and in Leavenworth. Matt volunteers his time on the board of Cocoon House, an organization dedicated to breaking the cycle of youth homelessness.
